

Where's The Why?

- ✓ Don't cough on your hands... cough into your sleeve!
- ✓ Sit like a young lady.
- ✓ Watch both ways before you cross the street.
- ✓ Jesus loves you.

✓ The next week, another young girl missed her first prom because she touched a door knob been covered in flu germs because the "Why" was left off of the reminder to "cough into your sleeve. Two weeks later the sweet lady who walked with a cane at church was buried because she also touched the same door knob. Her frail body could not fight the germs on the knob.

✓ It was years later. The little girl had grown into a very important lady. She was now asked on many important occasions. Today she was on national television and millions waited to hear what she had to say. Suddenly this very smart lady felt out of place and uncomfortable.

- ✓ The church was filled to over-flowing. Never in the history of the church had they lost a child so young. The young boy had been told to look both ways before he crossed the road to the park, but it had been like all the other rules he had been given... So many rules and never the reason "why."

So, the next time a child asks, "Why?"

Take the time to change the future.

Share the "Why."

*"Why?"
Because I love you and...*
